Say NO to Drugs!

Marijuana use increases the risk of cancer, brain damage, and can cause permanent brain damage. The risk of addiction is also high. Using marijuana can cause permanent brain damage and increase your risk of developing addiction. If you or someone you know is using marijuana, please contact a health professional for help.

Effects and Health Hazards

Marijuana use increases the risk of cancer, brain damage, and can cause permanent brain damage. The risk of addiction is also high. Using marijuana can cause permanent brain damage and increase your risk of developing addiction. If you or someone you know is using marijuana, please contact a health professional for help.

A Dangerous Drug

Marijuana, also known as weed, grass, hash, or reefer, is a dangerous drug. The use of marijuana increases the risk of cancer, brain damage, and can cause permanent brain damage. The risk of addiction is also high. Using marijuana can cause permanent brain damage and increase your risk of developing addiction. If you or someone you know is using marijuana, please contact a health professional for help.